ATLANTA BASED COMPANY REVOLUTIONIZING CONTAINER MOVING

BUFORD, GA - SEPTEMBER 12, 2008: Versa-Dol Industries Inc, a local manufacturer of intermodal transport equipment announces the launch its patent pending M1000 self-contained moving system for loading and transporting empty storage containers; especially those destined for the ground-level portable storage market.

Keith Pugh, President of Versa-Dol Industries says, "The Versa-Dolsm system is a revolutionary self-contained moving system for loading and transporting storage containers. Our revolutionary design stands alone in regards to originality, functionality, and competition. We offer a "green" friendly product that promotes increased MPG averages, fewer fuel burning runs, minimized environmental impact, virtual elimination of surface damage, and reduction in raw material usage."

~ MORE ~

The M1000 offers application flexibility with easy container manipulation, expanded pickup and delivery options, enhanced logistical efficiencies, and reduced space requirements for deployment / equipment housing; cost savings through minimal manpower requirements, lower equipment / vehicle costs, lower equipment housing costs, and greater overall operating efficiencies; and accelerates vendor opportunities with additional container sales and rentals, premium fees on specialized deliveries / runs, and increased back-haul options via multi-type loads.

The Versa-Dolsm M1000 is completely self-contained and self-reliant because the system is always with the road tractor; consistently ready to accept a pull of any type, at anytime, without the need for a return trip to home base to switch out equipment. The Versa-Dolsm system is also extremely flexible in its applications with multi-type pull capabilities, extreme maneuverability for load placement in space limited locations, and only requires a single operator / self-contained system to accomplish its tasks.

Versa-Dol Industries is engaged in pioneering innovation, need-driven invention, quality-first manufacturing and global promotion of high-performance products and services for the transportation, storage and handling industries. Our primary focus lies in providing superior products and support to our customers and achieving continuous improvements in quality and value while promoting an employee environment that empowers professional and personal growth.
